
Laura A. Liswood
Human Capital Management
New York

Laura is a senior advisor at Goldman Sachs. She was previously managing director of Global Leadership and Diversity.

In 1996, Laura co-founded the Council of Women World Leaders with President Vigdís Finnbogadóttir of Iceland located at The Aspen Institute in Washington, DC. In 1997, she co-founded The White House Project.

From 1992 to 1996, as director of the Women's Leadership Project, she interviewed 15 current and former women presidents and prime ministers, which is chronicled in her book and video documentary, Women World Leaders.

Laura's professional experience includes, senior examiner – Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award and executive positions Fortune 500 Companies. She received the Westinghouse Award of Excellence for her contribution to women and minorities in the work place. She is the author of a book on service quality, Serving Them Right and on workplace diversity, The Loudest Duck.

Laura is the co-founder of the World Economic Forum's Women Leaders Programme. In 2000, the Secretary of Defense appointed her to a three-year term of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services (DACOWITS). She is also a reserve sergeant in the Washington, DC Metropolitan Police Department.

Laura earned BA from California State University, San Diego, and an MBA from Harvard Business School. She earned a JD from the University of California, Davis, School of Law and is admitted to practice law in California and Massachusetts.