Ms. Fukushima is director of the Japan Association of Corporate Executives (Keizai Doyukai), director of the Japan Corporate Governance Network, executive director of the Japan Association of Corporate Directors, and member of the advisory board of the Development Bank of Japan. She is also the first woman to serve on the Board of Directors of such leading Japanese corporations as Kao, Sony, Benesse, Bridgestone, Ajinomoto, Mitsubishi Corporation, and J. Front Retailing. She also serves as a member of the Global Agenda Council of the World Economic Forum.

She is the author of several books, including The Marketable Global Executive. She is co-translator (into Japanese) of Japan As Number One: Lessons for America by Ezra F. Vogel and On Higher Education: The Academic Enterprise in an Era of Rising Student Consumerism by David Riesman.

In 2004, she received wide media attention in Japan and abroad as one of only two women serving on the Board of Directors of the 27 Japanese companies on Fortune's top 200 global companies. In 2008, Business Week selected her to be on the list of "The World's 100 Most Influential Headhunters" (one of nine women and the only Japanese).

Ms. Fukushima received a B.A. from Seisen University in Tokyo and a Japanese Teaching Certificate from the International Christian University. She also received an Ed.M. from the Harvard Graduate School of Education and an M.B.A. from the Stanford Graduate School of Business.
